Treats All Chronic and Special Diseases.

YOUNG MEN.

WHO may be suffering from the effects of youthful follies or indiscretions, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. Dr. Spinney will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty, who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits aropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, the color will be a dirty milky hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration to the genito-urinary organs.

Office hours—10 to 4 and 6 to 8, Sundays from 10 to 11 A. M. Consultation free. Thorough examination and advice, $5. Call or address,

THE STATE'S FINANCES.

The Winnemucca Silver State, commenting upon the JOURNAL's report of the condition of the State's finances, says:

"The JOURNAL ought to have told its readers, when it referred to 'the pretty good-sized sack' in the Treasury that $520,000 of the $844,593, represented the liabilities, not the assets of the State. The people ought not to be deceived by the monthly statement of the Board of Examiners, which makes it appear that the State has nearly $850,000 in coin and bonds in the Treasury, when in reality the bonds, except the $100,000 in United States bonds, and those belong to the School Fund, represent its indebtedness."

As reported in the JOURNAL the last count showed of coin $209,013 30; paid coin vouchers not returned to Controller, $15,585 03; irredeemable Nevada State school bonds, $389,000; Nevada State bonds, $140,000; U. S. bonds, $100,000; total, $844,598 33. There is no disposition on the part of the Board of Examiners or anybody else that we know of to mislead the public. The true facts are sufficient in themselves to show that the State is in good condition. The $389,000 irredeemable bond is a relic of Territorial existence, and the State pays the School Fund interest. The $100,000 U. S. bonds belong to the School Fund and are earning interest. The $140,000 is the amount the State has borrowed from the School Fund to maintain a cash basis, and upon which it is paying the School Fund more interest than could be earned by investing the same amount in Government bonds. The State authorities have the power to borrow to the Constitutional limit of $300,000 and this $140,000 is liable to be increased or decreased just as the State's condition will warrant. The $140,000 could be paid it appears because there are over $200,000 in coin on hand, but this money will be needed, probably, to carry on business for the year, or until the December settlement. The State tax of 90 cents is amply sufficient to pay expenses, and as the State is about holding its own, there is nothing to discourage taxpayers. There is not the slightest fear of the State rate ever being increased, and on the contrary in the years to come it ought not to exceed 75 cents.

A CHURCH SCANDAL.

A Brooklyn Priest Sues a Woman for Damages.

Rev. Florence McCarthy, pastor of St. Cecilia's Roman Catholic Church, Brooklyn, has begun an action against Daniel Cronin to recover $20,000 for defamation of character, growing out of the scene in the Church last Sunday. Mrs. Cronin has made the following additional statement: "One day in February my daughter called on Father McCarthy to get some tickets she was to sell for a church entertainment. She was invited into his bed room and he told her to bring her chair close to the bed and sit beside him. She soon got up and left the room. He followed her down stairs and in the sitting-room threw her on the sofa. It appears, according to the story, that the young girl got away from the priest without injury. McCarthy has denied the story told by Mrs. Cronin. The affair has created great excitement in the church and there are liable to be some interesting developments."

The recent session of Congress was such a protracted and exciting one, that many of the members were completely broken down in health, and when the session closed either went south to recuperate or returned to their respective States. Senator Anthony returned to Providence and is seriously ill in that city, of Bright's disease and trouble with the heart, doubtless augmented by the exhaustion produced by his increasing labors when at Washington. His condition is such as to cause his friends much anxiety, and, considering that he is well advanced in years, the issue of his case may be considered extremely doubtful. In the person of Senator Anthony, Rhode Island has had a noble representative in the Senate for many years past, and there are few, if any, public measures with which he was not conspicuously identified.

Gen. Sherman stated in Washington, lately, that he did not anticipate any serious trouble this year from the Indians, either in Arizona or Oregon. It is to be hoped that Tecumseh is not deceived as to the expected quietness of poor Lo.

The Ogden Pilot, of the 3d instant, has this:
Hon. George W. Merrill, of Eureka, Nevada, started for Washington this morning. He will reside permanently in that city and engage in the practice of law.

COLD TURKEY FOR RAILROADS.

An Immense Haul to be Inaugurated on the Treasury.

It is understood that Secretary Folger will very soon issue a circular of instructions to the proper office, directing the money due branch lines of subsidiary railroads must be paid. It appears that the Pacific railroads applied to the President to have the money paid to them under a decision of the Supreme Court, and he referred the matter to the Attorney General for an opinion. It is learned that the opinion of Brewster is that the roads must be paid. The opinion was sent to Folger and the latter will act upon it at once. As above indicated the action will result in the payment to the Central Pacific and Union Pacific Railroads of a vast sum of money, running away up into the millions. Ever since the Thurman Act went into effect, under which the Pacific roads were charged 25 per cent. of their net earnings, to satisfy the claims of the Government, the money for carrying mails and general transportation of army and Indian supplies has been withheld on all lines, operated by their company. Under this practice a large sum due for carrying mails, etc., over the Utah Colorado and Nebraska branches of the Union Pacific, and the Southern Pacific and other lines operated by the Central Pacific Company, have been withheld. Under the opinion of Brewster not only all these lines must be paid hereafter, but what is past due must be paid up. Of the 8,000 miles of road operated by the Central and Union Pacific only 2,400 miles, or that actually built under the Subsidy Act, is subject to the Thurman law, and on these lines only can the Government withhold the money earned in transportation as a set off for claims against the companies. These claims of the Union Pacific Company are understood to be what Dillon referred to in his letter to Teller. The decision will make a big hole in the surplus which has been piled up by the Postoffice Department for the last year.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Bill Nye's Humorous Sketch of Damon and his Friend.

The following humorous sketch is from the Laramie Boomerang:

The romantic story of Damon and Pythias which has been celebrated in verse and song for over 2,000 years, is supposed to have originated during the reign of Dionysius I., or Dionysius the Elder, as he was also called, who reigned about 350 B. C. He must have been called "the elder" more for a joke than anything else, as he was by inclination a Unitarian, although he was never a member of any church whatever, and was in fact the wickedest man in all Syracuse. Dionysius arose to the throne from the ranks, and used to call himself a self-made man. He was tyrannical, severe and selfish, as all self-made men are. Self-made men are very prone to usurp the prerogative of the Almighty and overwork themselves. They are not satisfied with the position of Division Superintendent of creation, but they want to be Most Worthy High Grand Muck-a-Muck of the entire ranch or their lives are gloomy fizzes. Dionysius was indeed so odious and overbearing towards his subjects that he lived in constant fear of assassination at their hands. This fear robbed him of his rest and rendered life a dreary waste to the tyrannical king. He lived in constant dread that each previous moment would not be followed by the succeeding one. He would eat a hearty supper and retire to rest, but the night would be cursed with horrid dreams of the Scythians and White River Utes peeling off his epidermis and throwing him into a boiling caldron with red pepper and other counter irritants, while they danced the Highland fling around this royal barbecue. Even his own wife and children were forbidden to enter his presence for fear they would put "barn arsenic" in the pancake or paris green in the pie.

During his reign he had constructed an enormous subterranean cavern or underground passage, and in this arrangement called the ear of Dionysius, because it resembled in shape and general telephonic power the human ear. It was the largest ear on record. One day a workman expressed the desire to erect a similar ear of tin or galvanized iron on old Dr. himself. Some one "blowed on him," and the next morning his head was thumping about in the waste-paper basket at the general office. When one of the king's subjects, who thought he was solid with the administration, would say: "Beyond the possibility of a doubt, your Most Serene Highness is the kind and loving guardian of his people and the idol of his subjects," his Royal Highness would say: "what are ye givin' us? Do you wish to play the Most Sublime Overseer of the Universe and General Ticket Agent Plenipotentiary for a Chinaman? Hal! You cannot fill up the King of Syracuse with taffy." Then he would order the chief executioner to run the men through the royal sausage-grinder and throw him into the Mediterranean. In this way the sausage-grinder was kept running night and day, and the chief engineer who run the machine made double time every month.

I will now bring in Damon and Pythias. Damon and Pythias were named after a popular secret organization because they were solid on each other. They thought more of one another than anybody. They borrowed chewing tobacco and were always sociable and pleasant. They slept together, and upstidely "stood off" the landlady from month to month in the most cheerful and harmonious manner. If Pythias snored in the night like the blast of a fog-horn, Damon did not get mad, and kick him in the stomach as some would. He gently but firmly took him by the nose and lifted him up and down to the merry rhythm of "The Babies of our Block." They loved one another in season and out of season. Their affection was like the soft bloom on the nose of a Wyoming legislator. It never grew pale or wilted. It was always there. If Damon was at the bat, Pythias was on deck. If Damon went to a church fair and invited starvation, Pythias would go too, and vote on the handsomest baby till the First National Bank of Syracuse would refuse to honor his checks. But one day Damon got too much budge, and told the venerable and colossal old blunder of Syracuse what he thought of him. Then Dionysius told the chief engineer of the sausage-grinder to turn on steam and prepare for business. But Damon thought of Pythias, and how Pythias hadn't so much to live for as he had, and he made a compromise by offering to put Pythias in soak while the only genuine Damon went to see his girl, who lived at Albany. Three days were given him to get around and redeem Pythias, and if he failed his friend would now go to protest.

We will now suppose three days have elapsed since the preceding chapter. A large party of enthusiastic citizens of Syracuse are gathered around the grand stand, and Pythias is on the platform, cheerfully taking off his coat. Near by stands a man with a broad-ax. The Syracuse Silver Cornet Band, of Syracuse, has just played "It's funny when you feel that way," and the chaplain has made a long prayer, Pythias sliding a trade dollar into his hand and whispering to him to give him his money's worth. The Declaration of Independence has been read and the man on his left is running his thumb playfully over the edge of his meat-ax. Pythias takes off his collar and tie, swearing softly to himself at his miserable luck. It is now the proper time to throw in the solitary horseman. The horizontal bars of golden light from the setting sun gleam and glitter from the dome of the Court House and bathe the green plains of Syracuse with mellow splendor, the billowy piles of fleecy bronze in the eastern sky look soft and yielding, like a Sara Bernhardt. The lowing herd winds slowly o'er the lea, and all nature seems possessed with solemn hush and stillness of the surrounding and engulfing horror. The solitary horseman is seen coming along the Albany and Syracuse toll-road. He jabs the Mexican spurs into the foamy flanks of his noble Cayuse plug, and the lash of his quirt, as it moves through the air, sings a merry song. Damon has been delayed by road agents and washouts, and he is a little behind time. Besides he fooled a little too long, and dallied in Albany with his fair gazelle. But he is making up time now, and he sails into the jail yard just in time to take his part. He and Pythias fall into each other's arms, burrow a chew of fine-cut from each other and weep to slow music. Dionysius comes before the curtain, bows, and says the exercises will be postponed. He orders the band to play something soothing, gives Damon the appointment of Superintendent of Public Instruction and Pythias the Syracuse Postoffice, and everything is lovely. Orchestra plays something touchful, curtain comes down. Keno.

News was received from San Blas, Mex., Wednesday, of the death on April 18th of Joseph Wasson, American Consul at that port. Mr. Wasson was a journalist, a mining man and represented Mono county in the State Assembly during the sessions of 1880 and 1881, where he was principally active in procuring the passage of the bill for the establishment of the State Mining Bureau, of which he was also the author. Mr. Wasson had been in poor health for several years and it was partly with the hope of regaining his strength that he procured his appointment as Consul at San Blas, the duties of which he assumed only about two months ago. He was a native of Wayne county, O., 42 years old and was well known in this city in newspapers, mining and political circles. He was a bachelor.

Death of Joseph Wasson.

A. Livingston Esq., of Genoa, Douglas county, contemplates resigning the office of County Treasurer, for the purpose of going to Salt Lake City and entering into some kind of commercial business. Mr. Livingston is a live man and will be very much missed by the people of Douglas county in the event of his leaving.

The Eureka Sentinel says "it is an open secret that Sharon wants to identify himself with Nevada again, and that he is ambitious to be United States Senator again." The JOURNAL has no doubt that if Sharon will return to the State, and pull the Comstock out once more, that the people of Nevada will gladly elect him Senator to succeed Mr. Fair.

The San Francisco Knights Templar Committee announce that $50,000 has been subscribed by citizens to cover the reception expenses. The Central Pacific Railroad Company has subscribed $2,000, W. T. Coleman & Co., $2,500, and others have subscribed large amounts.

The Iowa Republican State Committee has fixed the date of the State Convention June 27th, at Des Moines, and the apportionment based on the vote for Secretary of State. There will be 844 delegates. Iowa is reported more strongly Republican than ever.

The Executive Committee of the Irish National League has denounced the use of dynamite as futile and representing only personal warfare and not any principle of Irish patriotism.

SUMMIT LAKE.

Picturesque Scenery and Good Fishing.

In the northwestern part of Humboldt county, near old Camp McGarry, a military post established in early days to terrorize the hostile Indians, who infested that section, is situated Summit Lake, whose crystal waters set like a gem on a plateau, on table land about a thousand feet above the valley. A gentleman, who is familiar with the lake and its surroundings, tells the Winnemucca Silver State it is about four miles in circumference, and of unknown depth. At one time he and others sounded it to a depth of 50 feet with rattles, the only available sounding line at hand, without touching bottom. The shore on one side is precipitous, rocky bluffs towering hundreds of feet above the water, while on the other the meadows are almost on a level with the lake. This body of water is fed by two mountain streams, and it has no visible outlet. It abounds with salmon trout, some of which weigh ten or twelve pounds, and it has been, and is to some extent yet, a great resort for Indians in the summer season, as deer are abundant in the vicinity and fish can always be procured. The lake seems to have been formed by an upheaval, or possibly by a landslide, which closed up the canyon, thus hemming in the waters from the streams above. The scenery in the vicinity is quite picturesque. It is within the Camp McGarry military reservation, which embraced an area of 51,000 acres, but which was abandoned some years ago, and is now the property of E. W. Crutcher. The table land on which the lake is situated makes an excellent cattle range, but is too cold for agricultural purposes. It is said, however, that with an expenditure of a few thousand dollars the lake could be tapped by a tunnel and its waters used for irrigating purposes in the valley below, where there are thousands of acres of rich land, which only requires water to make it as fertile and productive as any in the State.

D. & R. G. E. R.

It is rumored through Southern Utah, says the Pioche Record, that the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad officials will so arrange their prospective southern extension as to run through Beaver, thence to Parowan, and thence west, passing through Iron City, across Lincoln county to California. Whether this will be the actual route or not is more than we can say, but the rumor seems to have originated with the railroad officials themselves.

Another Saw Mill.

Jack Foulks, better known as the Mayor of Verdi, is engaged in tearing down his saw mill near that place, and will re-erect it at what is known as the old Ingram station, just west of Crystal Peak, on the Hennessey Pass road. He intends to try the experiment of a steam road wagon, with which he will haul his logs to the mill, and also to convey the lumber to the railroad. The location selected for his mill-site is said to be a good one.

Officers Elected.

At a meeting of the Trustees of the Pyramid Lake Mining Co., held yesterday, Chancellor Derby was elected President, Gov. John H. Kinkead Vice President, and Pierce Evans Secretary.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Officers and Committees Appointed—Programme of Exercises.

The Memorial Day meeting last evening, at the Armory, was well attended. B. F. Leete was elected President of the Day and R. H. Lindsay Grand Marshal. The selection of Orator, Chaplain and Reader, was left to a committee composed of Jerry Schooling, Judge Marshall and Rev. E. B. Hatch. Capt. Moger, T. F. Laycock and W. H. Fogg were appointed a Committee on Music. To constitute a Finance Committee, M. O. Lake, J. F. Emmitt, C. H. Stoddard, J. C. Hagerman and W. R. Chamberlain were selected.

On the Flower Committee were appointed Mesdames Steele, Jenvey, Marshall, Schooling, Eds, Smith (J. C.), Webster, Powning, Longley, Blaisdell, Manning, Fulton, Bender, Chamberlain, Hunter, and Miss Crocker, of Glendale. It was decided to have a procession, and to have exercises at the theater as follows: Music; Prayer; Recitation; Singing; Music; Oration; Singing; Benediction; Music.

ADVICE TO CONSUMPTIVES.

On the appearance of the first symptoms—as general debility, loss of appetite, pallor, chilly sensations, followed by night-sweats and cough—prompt measures for relief should be taken. Consumption is a scrofulous disease of the lungs—therefore use the great anti-scrofula, or blood-purifier and strength-restorer, "Dr. Pierce's 'Golden Medical Discovery.'" Superior to Cod liver oil as a nutritive, and unsurpassed as a pectoral. For weak lungs, spitting of blood, and kindred affections, it has no equal. Sold by druggists the world over. For Dr. Pierce's pamphlet on consumption, send two stamps to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. feb. 21-sw-1-yr.

Bliss' American Wonder peas, Chicago market potatoes, red, white and yellow top and bottom onion sets, Arabian evergreen millet seed, white Russian oats and a full line of fresh field, flower and vegetable seeds are selling rapidly at Queen's drug store, at bottom prices.

A splendid stock of fresh garden, field and flower seeds just received at Osburn & Shoemaker's.

The best known remedy for coughs and colds is the Infallible Cough Mixture prepared by Osburn & Shoemaker.

No Use for Them.

Concerning Certain Relics of the Past—Dogs That Have

George Stephenson's "Rocket," and the magnificent locomotives of today, are built upon the same general principle, yet the machine with which the great engineer astonished his age, is interesting now only as an illustration of the beginning of the invention. There were plasters with holes in them long before BENSON'S CAPSINE POROUS PLASTER surprised both the public and the physicians; and the triumph of the Capsine is founded upon the partial success, or the utter failure of its predecessors. Everything of value in the old porous plaster is retained in the Capsine; but at this point all comparison ends, and contrast begins. For example: The old plasters were slow in their action; the Capsine was quick and sure. The old plasters lacked the power to do more than to impart slight, temporary relief in cases easy of treatment; the Capsine penetrates the system and permanently cures the troubles for which it is recommended. The old plasters depended for any good results they might attain, upon an accident of their makers and the naked faith of their users; the Benson's reaches its ends by means of the scientific combination of the rare medicinal ingredients which it contains. In brief, the old plasters, like Stephenson's discarded engine, are switched off the track while the Benson's goes on its way winning golden opinions from all sorts of people. Yet in this very fact lies the leading danger to the people who buy and use this reliable and scientific remedy. "Hypocrisy is the tribute vice pays to virtue." Imitation is the concession failure makes to success. Benson's Plasters are parodied in name and style. Beware of swindles. The genuine have the word CAPSINE cur in the center. Price 25 cents. Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York.
